<td>DA is in discussions with the Director of Procurement, Lisa Jeffries to confirm whether Mark Fellowes or Sam Foley will be our UEB sponsor, sign off the Fairtrade policy and take part in kicking off Fairtrade Fortnight. Update: Mark Fellowes is the UEB sponsor and has signed off the Fairtrade policy for 2021. Finding time for him to be involved in Fairtrade Fortnight is likely to be an issue.</td>

<td>EC will contact ICMA (Leanne Ley) to see if they do or would be willing to stock Fairtrade products. EC will also check with MERL as well and invite both groups to feed into the certification and future meetings. Update: Leanne Ley confirmed that ICMA do stock Fairtrade products and is hoping to provide a list. She is a member of the Responsible Procurement group but will also be invited to join this group. David Neilson, operations manager at the MERL confirmed to EC via email that they do not stock Fairtrade products, but they do stock ethically sourced products. They</td>

recently teamed up with Heritage Label to support the Climate Stripes merchandise launch and highlighted their hot drink suppliers:

- Reads Coffee: They source their coffee direct from farms around the world, for example Rwanda, (through their coffee broker) and this means the profits go direct to the farm and local community.

- Mortimer Hot Chocolate: As they (similar to the above), trade with small holdings in South America and Africa, they have the products produced in origin, so that the money goes directly to the country of origin and can be used to benefit the structure there and sustain the supply chain. Many of their suppliers do the same as the above, providing education for the workers children, transport to the farms and meals for the workers.

- Tregothnan Tea: Both grown and blended in the UK.

David Ashmore

DA to add attendees to the Fairtrade Teams group to coordinate our re-certification

Update: Done, and this is a standing action for DA/EC/AS as more members join.

Mark Laynesmith

ML to report on student academic focus on Fairtrade in studies and research

Update: Careers will be adding new volunteering programs to the RED Award, including the Green Award which is specifically sustainability-focused, to support volunteering. We have spoken to them about volunteers to support future Fairtrade activity.

Following an email request for information about Fairtrade-compatible teaching/research activity from ML, an academic from Philosophy has expressed interest in joining the group and ML will follow up on this with him.

ML suggested asking about what people are doing re: Fairtrade already on the Staff Portal. DA will speak to Santosh Sinha in MCE about this.

David Ashmore

DA to send Ben and Grace information to send to the student societies to see if they want to be involved in the Fairtrade Steering Group, help promote Fairtrade activities, take part in Fairtrade Fortnight.

Action carried forward

David Ashmore & Erin Cooper

DA/EC to coordinate the Fairtrade University and College Award application for completion prior to the Christmas break.

Action carried forward

3. Fairtrade Re-certification

a) Review of the Fairtrade University and College Award and criteria

The group was asked to share any thoughts on the award criteria via the Microsoft Team.

b) Cost – HE basic membership is £1,224 plus VAT and this will be paid initially by Procurement

c) Next steps

   - Updated policy

   The group was asked to share any thoughts on the policy via the Microsoft Team.
- SMART Action Plan

AG shared guidance provided by Fairtrade, and AS shared the draft SMART action plan. Both documents have been added to Teams:

- Product offering

ML noted that we can now include items that have a Fairtrade ingredient/component, e.g., if we serve desserts made with Fairtrade chocolate. He agreed to provide the contact details of the campus Co-op manager, so that EC can get in touch, and find out what new products Co-op may be adding that meet the Fairtrade standards.

- Signage

ML queried whether this refers to Fairtrade banners, as he is aware of some that the University have, but they may no longer be in very good condition. He suggested potentially creating a Fairtrade flag to fly during Fairtrade Fortnight, which he is happy to progress if we can get permission to fly it. DA added to this to the list of items to be discussed with MCE, alongside whether we could use the digital signage outside RUSU.

- Delivery of one or more innovative campaigns on Fairtrade, trade justice or ethical consumption in the last year, run in partnership with students.

Careers is not due to launch their new volunteering schemes until Sept 2022, a dedicated staff member is being appointed currently.

Tony’s Chocolonely has offered to do a tasting event/talk at the Union, provisionally on 1 Mar around lunchtime. First there will be a tasting, then a talk. It was suggested that this could be using a table in the Students’ Union if RUSU permits and that it would be useful to have Martin Batt or a Procurement representative in attendance to talk about catering.

BK noted that there may be a perceived issue of the company being seen as using this to promote itself rather than Fairtrade and that he is slightly uncomfortable about setting precedent for other companies to come and distribute free samples. However, ML noted that RUSU are signatories to the Fairtrade policy and therefore committed to promoting Fairtrade, which this activity constitutes. He suggested that the venue could be Mondial, or somewhere in Palmer and that this is being discussed with Christine.

In terms of events in partnership with students, ML reported that there will be an in-house Pancake Day planned for Fairtrade Fortnight. He suggested contacting Rebecca Pomroy in Student Communications to increase attendance at any events and to host an article on the student app.

- Examples of teaching, course work, dissertations involving Fairtrade
- Progress report on Fairtrade activity

It was agreed that these were taken to have been covered already.

4. Fairtrade Fortnight: Monday 21st February to Sunday 6th March 2022
   a) Activities
   b) Communication

Work has already begun to raise awareness of Fairtrade Fortnight in the Procurement newsletter.

ML suggested potentially borrowing stock from the Reading International Solidarity Centre (RISC) and having an on-campus stall during Fairtrade Fortnight. MB reported that Catering will offer a discount on coffee (which was done previously) or something similar.

DA suggested moving the promotional banner that is currently in Whiteknights House to somewhere with more footfall, and MB took an action to place it between the two vending machines in the library.

ML suggested contacting the manager of the Co-op shop on campus, as they will do some promotions and agreed to pass on the contact details to EC to follow up. MB noted that the Co-op has cancelled their launch which was scheduled for this week, so they might take opportunity to combine that with another event.

EC received the following actions:

- to post on Twitter
- to speak to Comms for an In brief article

AG also suggested contacting the UoR social media team, which was added to the list of items for DA to raise with MCE.

ML noted that we need to enrol student volunteer auditors and that he has some people in mind as potential recruits. He will begin by approaching specific departments such as Geography or Agriculture where the course content aligns with the aims of the Fairtrade award. He reported that he is currently awaiting the offer of training for the auditors, which will likely be online, but then MB/DA might have to help steer them towards what we specifically want them to pay attention to.

5. AOB
AG will ask the prospectus team to contact EC about wording regarding Fairtrade.

ML reported that there is a national universities network for Fairtrade that members of the group can sign up to and that he would circulate details.
